A WARM WELCOME TO ALL OUR VISITORS!!

July 11 we celebrated the feast day of St. Benedict. He is the "Father of Monasticism" and the Religious Order he founded has grown into many branches and still exists today 1500 years after his death. The following meditation is great for us to ponder as individuals and as a parish.

When you hear the word 'hospitality', what comes to mind? Like most people, I bet you think of hotels, or in some cases, you may think of that one aunt you have who always makes sure everyone's glass is full and everyone has a seat. If you're in ministry, 'hospitality' may now be synonymous with having coffee and light pastries at early morning meetings or after Mass. But in a Benedictine sense, hospitality is very different.

In the early sixth century, St. Benedict wrote a Rule that he wanted his monks to follow. In 73 short chapters, St. Benedict wrote rules for an entire monastic way of life. He wrote abbot everything; from how an abbot should be chosen to how monks were to eat and drink and where they were to sleep. He also devoted an entire chapter to how guests were to be received and treated.

This whole chapter, which is quite brief, can be summed up in the first phrase St. Benedict wrote: "Let all guests who arrive be treated as Christ..." (Ch. 53). Benedict goes into specifics on how guests are to be welcomed and fed, but it all goes back to Christ Himself saying "I came as a guest, and you received Me" "35 For I was hungry and you gave me something to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you invited me in, 36 I needed clothes and you clothed me, I was sick and you looked after me, I was in prison and you came to visit me." (Matthew 25:35-36). St. Benedict understands and wants his monks to understand, that Christ can be found in everyone. The first phrase of the last paragraph is a perfect summary of the Gospel message as well, "In the reception of the poor and of pilgrims, the greatest care and solicitude should be shown, because it is in them that Christ is received." (Ch. 53)

How do we treat the stranger on the street, the cashier at the store, the immigrant, or the receptionist? Remember also, this does not apply to just the stranger. How do we treat those that we see every day: family members, coworkers, roommates, friends, or classmates? Are these people just a means to an end, are they here for our convenience or happiness, or are they Christ to us? Are we treating them as Christ incarnate or just as another person we have to deal with? Most likely we do not fall into either extreme, but every time we fall short of treating a person as Christ, we fall short of treating God as God.

To be hospitable, our hospitality, like St. Benedict's, should be rooted in charity, in love. It can be quite simple: a smile, a sincere greeting, or holding the door for a stranger. Hospitality is the easiest way to build up the Kingdom of God here and now. When we welcome the guest, greet the stranger, or feed the hungry, we are doing these things for both God and neighbour. By being hospitable we are fulfilling the greatest commandment. Let us pray for the intercession of St. Benedict today, asking him to pray for us, that we may be hospitable, welcoming, and loving in ever interaction we have.
