The Mother Church of the Faithful of the Archdiocese of Kingston

The Most Reverend Brendan M. O'Brien, Archbishop of Kingston

September 8th we celebrate the Birthday of the Blessed Virgin Mary

“She is the flower of the field from whom bloomed the precious lily of the valley. Through her birth the nature inherited from our first parents is changed.” St. Augustine

The Memorare of St. Bernard:

Remember, O most gracious Virgin Mary, that never was it known that anyone who fled to thy protection, implored thy help, or sought thy intercession was left unaided. Inspired with this confidence, I fly to thee, O Virgin of virgins, my Mother; to thee do I come; before thee I stand, sinful and sorrowful. O Mother of the Word Incarnate, despise not my petitions, (pause to mention intention) but in thy mercy hear and answer me. Amen.

INTERIOR FREEDOM by FATHER JACQUES PHILIPPE
WEDNESDAYS, 7 TO 9 PM, Sept. 19th, Oct. 3rd, 10th, 17th

Interior Freedom leads one to discover that even in the most unfavorable outward circumstances we possess within ourselves a space of freedom that nobody can take away, because God is its source and guarantee. Without this discovery we will always be restricted in some way and will never taste true happiness.

Author Jacques Philippe develops a simple but important theme: we gain possession of our interior freedom in exact proportion to our growth in faith, hope, and love. He explains that the dynamism between these three theological virtues is the heart of the spiritual life, and he underlines the key role of the virtue of hope in our inner growth. Written in a simple and inviting style, Interior Freedom seeks to liberate the heart and mind to live the true freedom to which God calls each one. This study will be led by Father Shawn. ARCHDIOCESE OF KINGSTON
Office of the Archbishop

Pastoral Letter on Sexual Abuse

My dear friends in Christ,

This past week, the priests of the Archdiocese held their annual three-day Convocation. It focused on Priestly Wellness: physical, spiritual, emotional, and ministerial health.

Much of our actual discussion centered around the recent disclosures of past sexual abuse committed by members of the clergy in the United States and elsewhere and the failure of some Church leaders to protect the vulnerable. Our priests spoke of the anger, pain, and confusion that these revelations have brought, both for them and for their parishioners, and I must say that I have been greatly disheartened myself.

In the Archdiocese of Kingston, allegations have been made over the years against some members of the clergy. These allegations have been acted upon, which has resulted in removal from ministry, and, in a few cases, there have been criminal convictions. Having seen the devastation that sexual abuse has caused, we are more committed than ever to prevent further damage and to help survivors seek healing and justice. While we have been spared the widespread scourge of sexual abuse that has plagued some dioceses, our own experience has resulted in strict provisions being put in place to address this issue.

First and foremost, it is necessary to prevent abuse. In this Archdiocese, when candidates present themselves for the priesthood, they are required to undergo a comprehensive psychological evaluation to ascertain their emotional and psycho-social development. Human formation is now an integral part of the seminary curriculum; in fact, it is first among the four pillars of the curriculum – the others being spiritual, intellectual, and pastoral training. Not only seminarians, but all those who are engaged in pastoral ministry, are regularly screened, and police checks are required of all seminarians, priests, and permanent deacons – as well as lay persons who are in "high trust" positions.

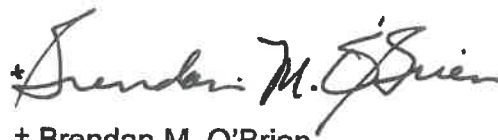

As part of our Safe Environment Policy, which is available for review on the Archdiocesan website, there is a Code of Pastoral Conduct, which clearly spells out expectations and the appropriate boundaries that are to be observed, especially when ministering to children, youth, and other vulnerable persons. The Safe Environment Policy also includes a Protocol for Creating a Safe Faith Community and Responding to Cases of Alleged Sexual Misconduct. When allegations of sexual abuse of a minor are reported, the Archbishop does not act alone. A Delegate receives the information, and an Advisory Committee, composed of lay persons with experience in various fields, advises the Archbishop on how to proceed. In recent years, allegations tend to be made directly to the civil authorities, including the police, with whom the Archdiocese has always cooperated. The Archdiocese wants to see justice done and will continue to support survivors.

The sexual abuse of minors, both in society at large and within the Church, has caused grave harm to many people. While we cannot undo the past, it is important for us to recognize the damage that was caused and to provide survivors with whatever practical assistance will bring healing and justice.

At the conclusion of our Priests' Convocation, we held a prayer service for survivors of sexual abuse and for guidance for the Church. I ask you to join us in praying for justice and healing for survivors and for all those affected in our parish communities. May the Holy Spirit guide our efforts in the days ahead, so that trust and confidence may be re-established among all members of the Church community.

Sincerely yours in Christ,
